Introduction¹

A full introduction will be added at a later date. A few brief remarks about Veysey's appointment and his register now follow.

Hugh Oldham died on 25 June 1519.² The following day Archbishop Warham appointed Richard Norton precentor of Exeter Cathedral, John Ryse the cathedral treasurer and Peter Lygham a leading canon lawyer to administer the vacant see.³ The sede vacante period lasted until 7 November and included a visitation of Devon and Cornwall.⁴ A record of the commissaries' acts has survived and is calendared below.⁵

Oldham's successor quickly emerged. On 8 July John Veysey, dean of the chapel royal and dean of Exeter, was granted custody of the temporalities of the diocese.⁶ He was provided to the see by the pope on 31 August and was consecrated on 6 November.⁷ The following day the spiritualities of the diocese were released to him.⁸

Veysey was an obvious choice for Exeter.⁹ He was a well-established figure in the diocese and enjoyed the favour of the king. Veysey came from Sutton Coldfield in the West Midlands where his father was a member of the minor gentry. Born in about 1464, he went up to Oxford where he became a fellow of Magdalen College and gained the degree of doctor of civil law. His ecclesiastical career began in earnest in 1498 when he was ordained priest and appointed vicar-general of Bishop Arundel of Coventry & Lichfield. The following year he became archdeacon of Chester. When Arundel was translated to Exeter in 1502, Veysey went with him being admitted archdeacon of Barnstaple and prebendary of Exeter. When Arundel died, Oldham was quick to acknowledge Veysey's worth by honouring him with preferments and offices. Veysey served as vicar-general and official principal. He was collated to the cathedral precentorship in 1508. Twelve months later he became dean.

Meanwhile, Veysey's stock at court was rising. Unlike Oldham, Veysey was a natural courtier. Moreover, he was a close friend of Thomas Wolsey: the two men had met as fellows at Magdalen. As Wolsey's own political career gathered momentum in the 1510s, so too did Veysey's. His easy-going charm stood him in good stead with the king who sent him 'sundry times in embassages to foreign princes'. A royal chaplaincy and the deaneries of Windsor and the Chapel Royal were rewards for services rendered. Veysey was involved in Wolsey's administrative reforms. He was a member of the nascent Court of Requests, whilst in 1525 the cardinal secured his appointment as president of the Council in the Marches of Wales which involved the guardianship of the young Princes Mary whose godfather he was.

This marked the high-point of Veysey's career. He seems not to have incurred any of the jealousies or hostility that Wolsey managed to engender at court. Hooker deemed him 'very well-learned and wise' and 'the most courtly of the bishop's in the land'. Alexander Berkeley¹⁰ published a Latin letter to him as a preface to his translation of Sallust's Jurgurthine War. Sir Thomas More thought him 'so good that it [was] a happiness to be able to please him'.¹¹

Despite his advanced years, Veysey was an active bishop: his common register makes this clear. He conducted visitations, issued injunctions and statutes and attempted to marshal the clergy of the diocese. The break with Rome required extra diligence from a prelate who was now in his seventies. Hooker condemns Veysey for the grants of episcopal manors and property that he made to the king and courtiers in the final years of his rule.¹² But the bishop's hands were tied and, in reality, there was no option but to comply.¹³ A more telling criticism is the worth of his work as bishop. On closer inspection, the injunctions and statutes that he issued lack detail and depth.¹⁴ No doubt this was because he had many irons in the fire. Not only was he involved with the Council in the Marches of Wales at Ludlow but he was also engaged upon an ambitious programme of public works for his home town of Sutton Coldfield which included the construction of a moot hall, prison, grammar school and market place. The project was estimated to have cost him £1500 annually and a good deal of this must have come from the episcopal revenues.¹⁵

Veysey was overly confident in his own ability as bishop¹⁶ and this may explain why Edward VI's government was forced to sack him in 1551 after the debacle of the Prayer Book rebellion, replacing him with the reformer Miles Coverdale.¹⁷ Veysey received a substantial pension for his troubles but this was not the end.¹⁸ In 1553 Queen Mary restored him as part of her reaction against the work of her step-brother. Veysey remained as bishop for a further 13 months until his death in October 1554 when he was probably in his ninety first year.¹⁹

¹⁴ Veysey struggled to get the cathedral prebendaries to obey their statutes especially with regard to the provision of hospitality for the junior ministers of the close.

Veysey's episcopal register for the period to 1551 comprises two parchment volumes.²⁰ The first is 191 folios long and contains the institutions and ordinations sub-registers. The second is 121 folios long and contains the registrum commune. Apart from the hard-cover bindings that were added in the 1920s, the registers are very much as they were in the early 1640s when Bishop Hall's inventory of episcopal muniments was compiled.²¹ The institutions and common registers are foliated with arabic numerals. This was probably done in the later sixteenth century when the index at the end of the registrum commune was added.²² The ordinations sub-register is unfoliated.²³ Ethel Lega-Weekes has once again annotated the volumes.²⁴

Both registers contain a number of stubs. These are the remains of blank or redundant folios that the scribes removed from the quires of bifolios that make up the volumes. The quires themselves are of uneven length: four or five bifolios being the most popular combination. A stub between folios 39 and 40 of the institutions register has writing on it which suggests that the scribe may have abandoned whatever he was planning to do at this point. A folio may be missing in the ordinations sub-register because no ordination ceremonies are recorded between December 1535 and September 1536.²⁵ Folios 108-21 of the common register may once have preceded folios 100-07.²⁶

⁶⁷ Before tin mined in the stannaries of Cornwall and Devon could be sold it had to be assayed or assessed for its quality. This was done by cutting corners or coigns from the ingots of tin. These 'coins' were then paid to the crown as a tax after bishops of Exeter had taken a tenth for themselves.

29. Proceedings in the election of [Avice Dynham as] prioress of Cornworthy¹⁰⁷

On 30 Jan 1520 M Robert Vowell alias Hoker¹⁰⁸ np proctor for the priory presents a decree of election¹⁰⁹ to M Richard Tollet DCL commissary¹¹⁰ in St Martin's church Exeter and petitions that the election be confirmed. The decree relates that the previous prioress, Thomasine Dynham, had resigned¹¹¹ and she, Anne Hille, Eleanor Gough and Satinola Flemyng met in chapter with Avice Dynham, subprioress and president of the chapter, on 26 Jan and agreed to hold an election on 30 Jan. Avice was elected¹¹² and the proceedings were witnessed by John Kymer and Thomas Smyth rectors of Stoke Fleming and Woodleigh.¹¹³ Hoker acted as scribe and attested the validity of the election. On receipt of the decree Veysey issues a mandate on 1 Feb citing any objectors to Avice's election to appear before him or his commissary in Crediton College church on 6 Feb. There are no objectors and so Tollet confirms the election. The document ends with the text of the confirmation and Veysey's commission to Tollet of 4 Feb requiring him to scrutinise the election. Thomas Abell chaplain occurs as the priory's messenger who announces to the local community that the election is to be held on 30 Jan whilst William Hyllaw chaplain¹¹⁴ is the bishop's messenger who publishes Veysey's mandate of 1 Feb.

³⁰⁴⁶ This is evidently a mistake because 22 Mar 1523 was Passion Sunday and the heading specifically mentions Saturday in one of the four Ember seasons or quatour tempora. Either the date should be 21 Mar (the day before Passion Sunday known as Sitientes Saturday) or 28 Feb which was the first Ember Saturday in 1523.

Devon Heritage Centre, Chanter 15

Common Register of John Veysey bishop of Exeter begun 6 Nov 1519 in the first year of his consecration

fo 1r

1390. 2 Dec 1519: Richard Tollet DCL³²⁴⁶ vicar-general of Veysey licenses [M] Thomas Acclum precentor of Ottery St Mary College to negotiate with D John Ayshe about the payment of a pension from the revenues of his office.³²⁴⁷

1391. 18 Dec 1519: Commission of president of Exeter consistory court and official of bishop's peculiar jurisdiction in Devon³²⁴⁸

Veysey in his palace at Exeter commissions M Thomas Brerewode BCL³²⁴⁹ to serve as president of the consistory court. He is to investigate, hear and conclude cases in the consistory by mere office, promoted office and instance procedure. He is also to correct and punish canonically the crimes and excesses of the bishop's subjects in the city and diocese of Exeter.

fo 1r-v

1392. 15 Dec 1519: Tollet at Exeter issues letters compulsory to William Baro chaplain who annually prays for souls in Salcombe chapel. He is to serve at Holbeton church within five days of receiving the letters which are dated 17 Dec and are given in full.

fo 1v

1393. 21 Dec 1519: Veysey in his palace at Exeter issues a mandate to the president of the cathedral chapter (the dean being away from Exeter) inhibiting the chapter's ecclesiastical jurisdiction and notifying the president of his intention to conduct a visitation of the cathedral. The president is to cite all canons, vicars, annuellars and ministers of the cathedral to appear before Veysey in the chapter house at the hour of the chapter's meetings on 17 Jan 1520. Beneficed clergy are to show their titles to their livings and also their dispensations if they are pluralists holding incompatible livings. The president is to certify his compliance with the bishop's mandate and provide a list of names of those cited. The mandate is given in full.

³²⁴⁷ Ashe succeeded Acclum (see 16).

³²⁴⁸ Marginal heading.

³²⁴⁹ See 72.

1394. 21 Dec 1519: Veysey in his palace at Exeter issues a mandate to the archdeacon of Exeter notifying him of his intention to conduct a visitation of the archdeaconry. The archdeacon is to cite all rectors, vicars, chaplains, curates and priests of the archdeaconry together with three or four trustworthy laymen for each parish to appear before the bishop on the dates and at the places indicated on the reverse of the mandate. Beneficed clergy are to show the titles to their livings whilst all priests are to show their letters of ordination. The archdeacon is inhibited from exercising ecclesiastical jurisdiction following receipt of the bishop's mandate. He is also to certify his compliance and provide a list of names of those cited. The mandate is given in full.

fo 2r

1395. 21 Dec 1519: Similar mandates are issued to the archdeacons of Totnes, Cornwall and Barnstaple.

1396. 22 Dec 1519: Veysey issues letters compulsory to William Swayne annual chaplain in Egloskerry chapel to serve at St Clether within 15 days [of receiving the letters].

1398. 3 Jan 1520: Veysey in his palace at Exeter grants letters dimissory to John Shylston of Exeter diocese allowing him to seek orders from any catholic bishop subject to the tests of literacy, morality, birth and age.

1399. 6 Jan 1520: Veysey in his palace at Exeter licenses Owen Watson rector of Bere Ferrers to negotiate with any honest and suitable chaplain about the payment of a pension from the revenues of his benefice. The letters are given in full.³²⁵⁰

fo 2v

1400. 9 Jan 1520: Veysey in his palace at Exeter licenses M Richard Sydnor vicar of Harberton to negotiate about the payment of a pension from the revenues of his benefice.³²⁵¹

³²⁵⁰ Nothing came of this attempt at retirement planning: Watson remained at Bere Ferrers until his death in 1533 (see 588).

³²⁵¹ See 18.

1401. 14 Jan 1520: Veysey in his palace at Exeter licenses William Danyell vicar of Bampton to negotiate with any honest and suitable chaplain about the payment of a pension from the revenues of his benefice.³²⁵²

1402. 20 Jan 1520: Tollet licenses John Kenner vicar of Luppitt to negotiate about the payment of a pension from the revenues of his benefice.³²⁵³

1403. 25 Jan 1520: Veysey issues ordinances to the warden and canons of Ottery St Mary College at his visitation of the college.

- grants of farms, lands and presentations to benefices are to be considered in chapter on three Saturdays before being approved.
- no grants are to be made unless the warden, precentor, minister and sacrist (or three of them, one of whom must be the warden or his deputy) are present.
- half of the income of stalls of vicars and other inferior ministers that are vacant for two months is to be allocated to the fabric fund whilst the other half is to be given to those vicars and ministers who substitute for those vacant stalls.

The ordinances are given in full.

1404. 29 Jan 1520: Veysey at Crediton licenses the proctors of [the knights of] St John of Jerusalem in England to collect alms in the diocese for a year.

1405. 6 Feb 1520: Veysey licenses the proctors of Burton Lazars Hospital to collect alms in the diocese for a year.

1406. 11 Feb 1520: Veysey licenses the proctors of the house of St Thomas the Martyr Rome to collect alms for a year.

1407. 9 Jan 1520: a commission to take into custody clerks convicted of homicide, rape, theft and felony in the secular courts of Devon and Exeter is issued to M Robert Flemynge,³²⁵⁴ M William Torre,³²⁵⁵ M Edward Gurgon³²⁵⁶ and Thomas Hewet chaplain.³²⁵⁷ The commission is given in full.

1420. 20 Jun 1520: Mandate for the celebration of festival days³²⁶⁴
Veysey writes to the archdeacon of Exeter about issues that have arisen from the comperta or findings of his recent visitation.

- No alms-collectors are to operate in the diocese without his written permission.
- No clerics are to preach without his licence under his great seal.
- Itinerant, unknown, clerics who have been ordained outside the diocese are not to be allowed to celebrate divine service unless they have been examined by him first and have letters from him confirming their ordination.
- The number of festival days is to be curtailed. Veysey notes that his diocese celebrates saints' birthdays which are not part of the official canon and which detract from the latter. This is to stop. He then gives a list of feasts with vigils that are to be observed: the nativity of SS Stephen (26 Dec), John the Evangelist (27 Dec), Innocent (28 Dec) and Thomas [Becket] the Martyr (29 Dec), the Circumcision of our Lord (1 Jan), Epiphany (6 Jan), Purification (2 Feb), St Peter bishop of Antioch (22 Feb), St Mathias the Apostle (24 Feb), Annunciation (25 Mar), Easter with two days following, St George the Martyr (23 Apr), St Mark the Evangelist (25 Apr), the Apostles Philip and James (1 May), Invention of the Cross (3 May), Ascension (Thursday following Rogation Sunday), Pentecost with two days following (seventh Sunday after Easter), Corpus Christi (Thursday after Trinity Sunday), nativity of St John the Baptist (24 Jun), the Apostles Peter and Paul (29 Jun), translation of St Thomas the Martyr (3 Jul), St Mary Magdalene (22 Jul), St James the Apostle (25 Jul), St Laurence (10 Aug), Assumption of Virgin Mary (15 Aug), St Bartholomew (24 Aug), birth of Virgin Mary (8 Sep), Exaltation of the Cross (14 Sep), St Matthew the Apostle and Evangelist (21 Sep), St Michael the Archangel (29 Sep), St Luke the Evangelist (18 Oct), the Apostles Simon and Jude (28 Oct), All Saints (1 Nov), St Andrew the Apostle (30 Nov), St Nicholas (6 Dec), Conception of Virgin Mary (8 Dec), St Thomas the Apostle (21 Dec) and the dedication days of the saints of parish churches. Vigils are to start at vespers on the day before the feast day.

1436. 18 Sep 1520: A certain ordinance made for the Dean & Chapter of Exeter Cathedral³²⁸⁴

Veysey at Chudleigh manor receives the certificate of the dean & chapter confirming their receipt of his ordinance about the duties of the stewards of the cathedral exchequer. The ordinance, which is recited in the certificate, has arisen from the bishop's visitation of the cathedral on 17 Jan 1520. Veysey notes that in centuries past the job of steward was burdensome and the statutes of the cathedral imposed fines for refusing to do it. In recent times a more casual approach has been adopted and so in future deputies of the chapter are to oversee the taking of money from the common chest by stewards for the payment of canons' and ministers' dues. And every year at the feast of St Katherine³²⁸⁵ stewards are to draw up complete and plain accounts which are to be audited by the chapter on the Saturday following the feast. A record in the form of a parchment roll is to be made within 10 days of the audit and deposited in the cathedral exchequer. The ordinance is dated 6 Sep 1520 at Chudleigh manor and the dean & chapter have until 20 Sep to certify receipt.

Veysey at Chudleigh manor writes in English to [Avice Dynham] the prioress.³²⁸⁸
He wants to 'purge the slander that hath ensued in your house by transgression of religion'. The prioress is to ensure that

- divine service is celebrated by the whole convent
- the nuns sleep together in one dormitory 'all several chambers and backdoors utterly excluded'
- the nuns eat together in the refectory whilst a lecture is read
- 'no pompous apparel' be used 'but such as be used in a house of religion'
- there are no lodgers without the bishop's special licence
- within a month of receiving these injunctions all unnecessary servants and Bryton and his wife are removed³²⁸⁹
- she and her convent remember the three 'substantials' of their religion: obedience, chastity and the forsaking of property
- she and her convent do not engage in husbandry or 'wander in the fields and other prophane places irreligiously out of the priory'

³⁴¹⁴ The number of vicars, clerks and choristers was set by Bishop Oldham in his statutes of 1511 (see Oldham 944A).

³⁴¹⁵ 2 Nov.

Obventions and rents are to be collected by one of the canons or the dean and a vicar or two vicars. They are to swear before the president and chapter that they will faithfully collect and provide a true account.

Veysey orders that the leasing of the house and land of the ministers for their financial support is to be done in full court. The vacancy of the lands to be leased are to be proclaimed in two courts and the lease only made with the advise of the president and chapter.

Veysey provides an oath which vicars and clerks must take before the president and chapter when they are admitted to office in which they swear to observe the statutes and not leave the college to live elsewhere without giving six months' notice to the president and chapter.

Statutes which vicars and clerks must follow by virtue of their oath

- vicars or clerks absent from morning and evening mass without legitimate excuse are to be fined ½d whilst those absent from prime and canonical hours are to be fined ¼d. The fines are to be put to the use of the precentor and treasurer. The clerk who teaches the choristers is excused from attending morning and principal mass and vespers if he is not ordered to do so.
- no one is to be admitted as a vicar or clerk unless they are able to sing sonorously and skilfully
- vicars and clerks found guilty of misbehaviour before the president and chapter and who refuse to reform themselves are to be removed
- any vicars and clerks who use violence or abuse within the pale of the college are to be fined 40d for violence and 12d for abuse and the money is to be allocated to the vicars as a whole. Further penalties may be imposed if the aggrieved parties request it and the offences are serious.

1550. This is the text of Canterbury Convocation's grant of a clerical subsidy of £100000 to the king on 23 Aug 1523. The preamble makes clear that this unusually large sum was granted in response to Henry's urgent need for money to finance his wars with France and Scotland and did not constitute a precedent for future taxation. All clerics and ecclesiastical corporations were to pay a graduated tax based on their annual income.³⁴²³ Individuals and institutions with an income of £8 or more were to pay half of their income, those with an income of less than £8 were to pay a third whilst those in extreme poverty were to pay a quarter. Aliens had to pay double. As a preliminary bishops were to hold inquisitions to determine the annual value of cathedrals, colleges, hospitals, religious houses, benefices, pensions, stipends and chantries. They were also to appoint collectors who would remit the proceeds of the tax to the archbishop of Canterbury or the bishop of London at the chapter house of St Paul's. As a means of reducing the burden on the clergy, the subsidy was to be paid in annual instalments of £20000 over the period 1524-28. The due date for payment each year was 30 Apr.

1557. 20 Dec 1523: Statutes of Crediton College³⁴²⁹
Veysey at Crediton manor writes to the precentor, canons and other ministers of the college. He notes that the statutes of the college are contained in a number of books that are greatly ignored. He now brings them together in one book having reduced and modified them.

³⁴²⁴ See 153: there is no record of a pension being awarded on Forde's resignation.

³⁴²⁵ See 1505.

³⁴²⁶ 'Year 5'.

³⁴²⁷ See CTRs Part 4.

³⁴²⁸ See Oldham 575.

³⁴²⁹ The major part is transcribed in Oliver, Monasticon, pp. 83-85.

He notes that the college needs three officers to function properly: the precentor who is responsible for the running of the college and has jurisdiction over the canons and inferior ministers, the treasurer (or sacrist) who is responsible for the fabric and ornaments and the curator (or dean) who serves as vicar of Crediton.

- The officers should be in priest's orders at the time of their admission or about to take priest's orders and reside in college except for 16 days each quarter provided the precentor and treasurer are not both absent at the same time during major festivals. The dean as vicar of Crediton is to reside on his cure as the statutes of the papal legates [Otto and Ottoboni] oblige all vicars to do.
- The precentor and treasurer are supported financially by the prebends of Wolsgrove and Carswell. Additionally they may hold bursal prebends. The treasurer is also to have £3 6s 8d for his work out of the taxes that the prebendaries pay to the fabric and ornaments, 13s 4d out of the taxes paid to the college's ministers and from one bursal prebend.
- Canons are not to receive dividends for residence unless they are present at matins, principal masses and vespers.
- Canons on admission are to swear to pay tax to support the ministers and fabric and ornaments of the church. Canons are using the pretext that the college is in ruins and that there are only four vicars choral, one clerk and two choristers to avoid paying the full amounts that they should.
- Canons are henceforth to have the income of their prebends taxed according to the table below. Payments intended for support of the ministers and choir are to be made quarterly each year whilst payments for the fabric and ornaments are to be made at the feast of the exaltation of the Holy Cross.³⁴³⁰ These latter are to be paid by the canons for four years. The penalty for non-payment is sequestration of the prebendaries' revenues.

Six bursal

Prebends[each]	15s 0 ³ / ₄ d	£2 13s 4d	3d

The total for the ministers and burdens of choir annually is £29 0s 4¹/₂d

The total for the fabric and ornaments for four years is £83 0s 0d

The remainder of the rents and emoluments for the support of the ministers and choir is as shown in the accounts for the year ending 15 Henry VIII with the following changes:

- rents at Exeter, Crediton and Coleridge £17 7s 10d
- tithes from Coleridge once leased for £9 but now for £5 13s 4d
- tithes from bishop's borton lands leased for £4 6s 8d
- oblations from the box of the Holy Cross and others £7 13s 3d
- oblations from the box of St Laurence 8s 0d
- tithes of the market 6s 7d
- mortuaries sold for the year £6 7s 4d
- pension from Ashreigney rectory £1 6s 8d
- pension from Uny Lelant rectory £6 0s 0d
- from rent acquittances annually £1 16s 9d
- 8s paid for wax for church
- 10s paid to clerk for divine service to travellers
- 3s 4d to clerk for prime mass
- £1 5s 4d to dean for divine offices in choir
- £1 6s 8d paid to the cook of the vicars choral
- 6s 8d to the steward for holding court and making accounts
- 4s 8d for the dinner of the steward and others on St Laurence's day
- £1 6s 8d to the collector of rents for his accounts and other work

£69 9s 2¹/₂d remains for the maintenance of the vicars choral hospice and possessions and support of the ministers out of which the six vicars choral living communally receive £44 0s 0d or £7 6s 8d each. And one of the six vicars (or the dean if he resides among them) is to receive a further 10s 0d for diligence about the application of the reforms to the statutes and the good character of every minister dwelling in the pale of the hospice of Kalenderhay.

- £8 (or £1 6s 8d each) is to be paid to the choristers whose number is henceforth six. The two clerks called secondaries are to be paid £12 13s 4d, the one who teaches the choristers and plays the organ receives £6 13s 4d whilst the other receives £6 0s 0d. Whatever is left over from the obventions and rents is to be used for repairs to the vicars choral hospice and the houses that they hold which are already well and sufficiently made and also for other related burdens and is to be divided among the vicars every year immediately after the accounts have been made provided that £20 is left in the exchequer of the church for the use of the ministers. One of the canons or the dean and a vicar or two vicars are to collect the obventions and rents each year. They are to swear to make a faithful receipt and account before the president and chapter.

- The house and land for the support of the ministers is to be leased in full court and not otherwise. The intention to lease is to be proclaimed in two courts whilst the granting of leases is to be done with the advice and agreement of the president and chapter.
- Henceforth the leasing of Uny Lelant church and other grants are to be made through the president and chapter. The common seal of the college is to be attached to leases which is only to be done after the leases have been read in chapter on three Saturdays and entered in the common register with all canons who are absent for 15 days summoned and waited for.
- Veysey updates the statutes that Bishop Oldham made on 27 Mar 1511.³⁴³¹ If the precentor and treasurer are both absent from the college for more than 16 days in any quarter they will lose the revenues of their prebends pro rata and their daily distributions will cease and be given to those canons who reside. If neither the precentor or treasurer reside then the revenues of their prebends will be divided among the canons who reside.
- In order to increase the availability of the college's church for the parishioners of Crediton the college's principal mass on feast and non-feast days is to finish at 10am or thereabouts unless the feast is being celebrated by the parishioners.
- Where the money received from oblations made to the image of the Holy Cross and other images in the college church and from alms collecting exceeds £10 then the canons will have it but if the total is £10 or less it will be apportioned between the vicars and canons 9 to 1.
- If any of the vicars or clerks are absent from matins or mass they will forfeit ½d and if they are absent from prime ¼d. The fines will be given to the precentor and treasurer for their use.
- No vicar or clerk is to be admitted to office unless they have a sonorous voice and are skilful singers.
- If any vicar or clerk is convicted of a crime before the president and chapter and do not reform themselves they will be removed from office.
- If any vicar or clerk is convicted of violence or abuse in the pale of the college they will be fined 3s 4d for the former and 12d for the latter and the money used by the vicars. The penalties will be greater if the aggrieved parties complain and the offences are deemed flagrant.
- The dean as vicar of Crediton and his parish priests are to be present in the choir of the collegiate church on festival days and other days unless they are occupied in parish work. The dean is to receive £1 5s 4d for his and his priests' sustenance every quarter together with all personal tithes of the parishioners of the church including cooking pots, kettles, broom, gorse and shrubs, other coppice wood as is customary in the parish, mortuaries from those not having living animals and all oblations of the parish arising outside the choir of the collegiate church excepting the chapels of St Laurence and St Clement de Kynwarleg.

- No parishioner is to have his burial mass in the choir of the collegiate church unless he has the permission of the dean who is also to have money for the ringing of minor bells and the supply of leather for the bells' clappers.
- Veysey provides the oaths that the precentor, canons, dean, vicars and clerks must take on admission to office. An insert³⁴³² also gives the form of the summons for absent canons to attend chapter meetings that is fixed to the their stalls in the choir of the college church.
- The statutes are to be read to the canons by the president of the college twice a year on the Saturdays preceding Low Sunday³⁴³³ and Michaelmas.³⁴³⁴

Memorandum: M William Champernon treasurer³⁴³⁵ accounts for the year ending at the feast of the exaltation of the Holy Cross³⁴³⁶ which is the first of the four years' tax due to the college's fabric and ornaments:

Veysey at Crediton manor responds to a petition from Thomas Dowryche, John Estchurche, Richard Cowle, Giles Leghe, William Dykar, John Pope, James Mortemer, Walter Vicary, Henry Pyttwoode and Roger Mortemer representatives of the inhabitants of Sandford. They tell the bishop that their chapel of St Swithun which is several miles distant from the mother church of Crediton has been magnificently re-built and now has all the insignia of a parish: books, vestments, ornaments, chancel and a neighbouring cemetery. They therefore wish to have the chapel and cemetery consecrated so that they can receive the sacraments and have burials performed by a suitable chaplain. The precentor³⁴⁹⁶ and chapter of Crediton College who are the proprietors of Crediton church and George Mason the dean and vicar of Crediton³⁴⁹⁷ are in agreement and so the next day Veysey consecrates the chapel and cemetery and appoints the feast of SS Philip and James³⁴⁹⁸ as the chapel's dedication day. The bishop also defines the relationship of Sandford to its mother church. Oblations from the chapel including ½d for every name entered on the bede roll of the chapel are to be paid to the dean by the inhabitants of Sandford. They are also to pay the burdens of the mother church. The dean is to choose the priest who is to serve Sandford whilst the inhabitants are to pay the priest a stipend of £6 and provide him with accommodation. They are also responsible for maintaining the chapel including its chancel. The parties append their seals to the composition on 30 Apr. The inhabitants of Sandford use the seal of M Thomas Wyse, the bishop's commissary-general in Devon.³⁴⁹⁹ John Fylde np represents them in their dealings with the bishop.³⁵⁰⁰

1668. 16 Feb 1531: Mandate for observing the statutes of the church of Exeter³⁶²⁴ Veysey writes to the president and chapter of Exeter Cathedral ordering the canon residentiaries to reside upon their benefices more frequently. According to the bishop the residentiaries scarcely spend 10 days a year in their livings and therefore fail to provide the pastoral care and hospitality that they should. Veysey acknowledges that canons who are dignitaries of the cathedral have to reside in the close for at least 66 days each term in order to qualify as residentiaries whilst other canons need to reside for 46 days. But this leaves plenty of time for them to visit their benefices. By failing to do so they are violating one of the statutes they swore to observe on admission to their prebends. Veysey therefore exhorts them to obedience and orders the president to acknowledge receipt of his mandate before 20 Mar 1531. The mandate is given in full.

1674C.³⁶³⁸ 31 May [1532]: Veysey at Bewdley [Warwickshire] writes to the Exeter Dean & Chapter about their dispute with John Holwill. He has received their letter of 22 May and has also received a letter from the king dated 10 May requiring him to order the chapter to restore Holwill 'to his residence and to all commodities of the same' without delay. Veysey tells the dean & chapter that he has arbitrated the matter at length with Holwill and [Thomas Sotherne] the treasurer of the cathedral and a solution has been found. Holwill is to be given the promise of the next available canon's house when he swears that he has served a probationary period of a year as a residentiary. Veysey has persuaded Holwill to accept £40 in recompense for his costs and now wants to know whether the chapter is willing to settle on this basis 'for the quietness of all parties'. If the prebendaries still refuse then the bishop will be obliged to deliver the cathedral foundation charter and statutes to the king so that he can establish if the chapter is justified in denying Holwill his residentiary's place.³⁶³⁹

³⁶³² This is part of a long-running dispute. John Holwill was a royal chaplain. He became a prebendary in 1526 and from 1529 pressed his claim to become a canon residentiary but the chapter opposed his claim on the grounds that there was no vacant canon's house for him to reside in (see 293; ECA, D&C.3551, fo 59r-v). The chapter first attempted arbitration themselves but when the king became involved they turned to Veysey for help.

1725.³⁷⁹⁹ 12 Jun 1538: Veysey in his palace at Exeter commissions the archdeacon of Exeter to publish the following injunctions written in English³⁸⁰⁰ which the bishop has produced for the clergy of his diocese following his ordinary visitation which ended in May.

- clergy with cure of souls are to declare in English or Cornish every Sunday all or part of the epistle or gospel of that day or else the Paternoster, Ave Maria, Creed and 10 Commandments or part of them as interpreted in the book called The Institution of a Christian Man.³⁸⁰¹
- curates in their declaration must especially declare the second and fourth commandments as they are interpreted in the said book. For want of true knowledge whereof it is thought that many of the unlearned clergy of the diocese are much blinded, following their own superstitious fantasies and omitting to do the works of mercy and other meritorious acts commanded by God in his scripture.
- curates on the Sunday following the publication of my injunctions and at least once every quarter afterwards in their preaching are to set forth the title of our sovereign the king as supreme head under God of the Church of England both of spirituality and temporality and to utterly abolish and extirpate the usurped power of the bishop of Rome.
- prayers in their sermons are to be kept in the way recently devised by the king and his prelates.
- no curate is to permit any secular or regular cleric to preach in the diocese unless he has the king's or bishop's licence to do so.
- rectors and vicars must reside on their livings before 1 Dec next unless they have a lawful reason for their absence in which case they must provide able curates for examination as to their fitness to serve in the incumbents' absence.
- appropriators are to make yearly distributions to the poor of their parishes as they are bound to do in proportion to the income they receive.
- appropriators are to pay for quarterly sermons if the annual revenues of benefices exceed £20.
- for the avoidance of idleness, chantrists and other stipendiaries are to instruct the children of their parishes in virtue, teaching them the Paternoster, Ave Maria, Creed and 10 Commandments with the seven works of mercy in English or Cornish.
- curates are to examine the youth of their parishes in the foregoing whenever they admit them to communion and if any are found ignorant they are to be presented at the next 'seane'³⁸⁰² after Easter.
- curates are to do their uttermost to reduce discord amongst parishioners.

- clergy are to have a copy of the king's injunctions³⁸⁰³ given to them by Dr [John] Tregunwell in the recent royal visitation³⁸⁰⁴ and to keep and observe the same.
- curates especially within the archdeaconry of Cornwall are to exhort parishioners not to have solemn night watches, or drinkings when their friends die, to abstain from abuses and foolish customs and to observe the laws of God.
- before 1 Nov next clerics are to provide copies of the New Testament both in Latin and English and to confer daily together about a chapter at least; they should learn some part thereof by heart each day.
- priests are not to frequent taverns or play at dice, cards, tables or any other damned or unlawful games; instead they should exercise themselves in prayer, reading of scripture, teaching of children or some other virtuous exercise.
- curates are to exhort parishioners not to make contracts of marriage privately but in the presence of two or three honest men.

Beneficed clergy are to

- observe and keep the king's previous injunctions.
- erect a copy of the Great Bible³⁸¹¹ in their churches by Easter so that parishioners may come and read it.
- promote the reading of the bible in English.
- provide regular instruction in the articles of faith so that parishioners may be able to recite by heart the Paternoster, Creed and Ten Commandments.
- test parishioners' knowledge of these articles every Lent.
- preach sermons every three months at least and discourage superstitious practices.
- remove images and the majority of lights from churches.
- appoint able curates to serve when they themselves are non-resident.
- ensure that only licensed preachers preach in their cures.
- condemn teaching about pilgrimages, relics and images which is contrary to scripture.
- present those who opposed these injunctions.
- keep registers of christenings, marriages and burials for their parishes.
- read these and previous injunctions before parishioners every quarter.
- ensure that no parishioner refuses to pay his tithes because of the inadequacy of their parsons or curates.
- keep the days appointed for feasts and divine service until ordered otherwise.
- abandon the practice of kneeling when saying 'Ave'.
- omit the singing of 'pray for us' in processions.

1738. 14 Aug 1539: Royal faculty for Woodland Chapel³⁸³³

William Yarde gen one of the inhabitants of Woodland, a dependent chapelry of Ipplepen, who is representing both himself and the other inhabitants of Woodland, shows Veysey, who is sitting judicially in his chapel at Bishop's Clyst manor, royal letters signed by Thomas Cromwell dated 27 May 1538. These recite a royal faculty dated 20 Jun 1536. The faculty responds to the inhabitants' petition to have their chapel of St John the Baptist and its cemetery consecrated so that they can have the full range of religious services and bury their dead.³⁸³⁴ This is because the chapel is remote from its mother church. The king grants their petition³⁸³⁵ with the proviso that the inhabitants continue to attend Ipplepen church on its feast days and pay the tithes and oblations customarily due to that church. He orders Veysey to consecrate Woodland chapel and cemetery within five days of receiving his faculty. Cromwell's covering letter authenticates the royal faculty and amends its terms because of disputes that have arisen between the inhabitants of Woodland and Ipplepen about the cost of maintaining the chapel and its services. In future the inhabitants of Woodland need only pay 5s annually to the wardens of Ipplepen for their dues. Veysey recognises that Cromwell's letters (and the faculty within) are authentic and orders that a copy be kept in his registry. The original is returned to Yarde.³⁸³⁶

The appointment is given in full.

³⁸³⁴ The chapel is described as furnished with altars, bells and all the other insignia of a parish church including books and chalices implying that it may have been recently rebuilt or refurbished.

³⁸³⁵ The king is taking on a role that the pope would have performed before the break with Rome.

³⁸³⁶ It is now DHC, 2660A/1/PB/1. The faculty represents a further step in Woodland's independence from Ipplepen. In 1424 Bishop Lacy licensed the inhabitants to hear divine service in their chapel and more recently Bishop Veysey had done the same (Reg Lacy I. 102; DHC, 2660A/1/PB/3). Such licences were ad hoc grants to meet specific short-term needs. In 1532 Archbishop Warham ordered the vicar of Ipplepen to pay for the curate who served Woodland, thus enabling services to be heard more regularly (DHC, 2660A/1/PB/3). Now with the consecration of its chapel and cemetery Woodland had become a de facto parish.

1750. 20 May 1538: Veysey at Bishop's Clyst manor commissions John Blaxton BCnL his chaplain to serve as commissary of the peculiar jurisdiction and elsewhere in Devon.³⁸⁵⁷ Blaxton is to hear all litigation including matrimonial causes by the procedures of mere office, promoted office and instance of parties. He is to inquire into the crimes and excesses of the clergy and laity and to punish offenders. He is also to institute to and induct into livings and examine the literacy, learning and morals of clerics, prove the wills of beneficed clergy and others falling under the bishop's probate authority in Devon as well as the wills of the laity in the peculiar jurisdiction. Finally he is to grant administrations of the goods of the deceased, collect synodals and cathedratics and enforce other episcopal rights in Devon. Thomas Brerewode's commission is revoked.³⁸⁵⁸ Blaxton's commission is given in full.

1750A.³⁸⁵⁹ 26 Jun 1540: Veysey at Bishop's Clyst manor grants John Bostock gen the office of apparitor general together with a £3 pension for life. The Exeter Dean & Chapter confirm the grant on 7 Aug.

1751. 1 Jul 1540: John Toker late of Churchstow who was convicted of felony by the king's justices and who has been imprisoned in the bishop's gaol has successfully purged himself of the crime. Thomas Ven curate of Churchstow³⁸⁶⁰ where the offence took place notifies the consistory court that Toker's impending purgation was proclaimed in church on three successive Sundays. As there were no objectors the purgation proceeded with 12 persons swearing his innocence: Henry Leche, Thomas Cade, Richard Taylor, Reginald Baker, Robert Cleanger, Richard Panter, John Toker, Robert Davye, John Fynde, John Croppe, John Pombery and Pascow Hyggs. As a result Toker is released from gaol.

1751A.³⁸⁶¹ 24 Jul 1541: Veysey leases three messuages in Crediton manor to John Bodlegh snr of Crediton gen for an annual rent of £2.³⁸⁶² The Exeter Dean & Chapter confirm the grant on 6 Oct.

1751B.³⁸⁶³ 19 Oct 1540: Veysey at Bishop's Clyst manor grants William Fyton³⁸⁶⁴ the office of consistory court registrar and registrar of the bishop's peculiar jurisdiction in Devon and Cornwall for life. The Exeter Dean & Chapter confirm the grant on 20 Mar 1541.

1751C.³⁸⁶⁵ 10 Jun 1541: Veysey grants John Kyllygrew esq, William Carvanell and Ralph Couche of Penryn borough³⁸⁶⁶ permission to cut down trees and sell the timber in East Wood in Penryn manor for £100. The Exeter Dean & Chapter confirm the grant on 19 Aug.

1751D.³⁸⁶⁷ 1 Jul 1541: Veysey at Bishop's Clyst manor writes to the Exeter Dean & Chapter about matters arising from his recent visitation of the cathedral. He has found that some canons residentiary are receiving daily distributions when they do not attend divine service or provide hospitality to the ministers of the cathedral. This is in contravention of the statutes. Veysey remarks that he has been connected with the cathedral for 40 years, firstly as a residentiary, then as archdeacon of Barnstaple, precentor, dean and now bishop. He has always observed the statutes and exhorts the canons to do so as well. He orders that the stewards of the cathedral exchequer treat canons who fail to attend services and neglect hospitality for the vicars choral, secondaries and choristers as voluntarily absent from the cathedral and not entitled to daily distributions. The chapter is to certify receipt of Veysey's letters before 1 Aug.

1752. 4 Nov 1541: Christopher Allsope late of Crediton who was convicted of felony by the king's justices and who has been imprisoned in the bishop's gaol has successfully purged himself of the crime. John Every curate of Tiverton³⁸⁶⁸ where the offence took place notifies the consistory court that Allsope's impending purgation was proclaimed in church on three successive Sundays. 1754. 19 Dec 1541: Veysey at Bishop's Clyst manor orders the dean & chapter and the four archdeacons to attend parliament.

1755. 23 Dec 1541: Having received Archbishop Cranmer's mandate for attending Convocation from Edmund Bonner bishop of London³⁸⁶⁹ on the previous day, Veysey orders John Bostock gen his apparitor general³⁸⁷⁰ to cite the dean & chapter, the four archdeacons and the clergy of the diocese to attend on 20 Jan next. The dean and four archdeacons are to attend in person whilst the chapter and clergy are to nominate proctors, one for the former and two for the latter. Bostock is to certify Veysey by 4 Jan that he has carried out the bishop's instructions to provide a list of those cited.

1756. 10 Jan 1542: Veysey sends a certificate to Archbishop Cranmer confirming that he has received the archbishop's mandate and that the following have been cited to attend: Simon Heynes dean of Exeter³⁸⁷¹, Adam Traves archdeacon of Exeter³⁸⁷², Thomas Wynter archdeacon of Cornwall³⁸⁷³, George Carew archdeacon of Totnes³⁸⁷⁴ and Thomas Brerewode archdeacon of Barnstaple.³⁸⁷⁵

The following return is recorded on a separate quire of 14 folios. It is a list of tenths due to the Exchequer from the benefices and other chargeable preferments of the diocese and was probably compiled between the Valor Ecclesiasticus of 1535 (on which the tenths are calculated) and Reginald Pole's removal from the deanery of Exeter in 1537. Several of the tenths are wrongly reported and corrections have been made in the left hand margin. I have moved these to the footnotes. The

1758. [30 Nov 1544]⁴⁰¹⁹: Synopsis of Cathedral Statutes⁴⁰²⁰

Veysey writes to the Exeter Dean & Chapter [from Bishop's Clyst manor] to tell them that he has reduced their statutes to a short book.⁴⁰²¹ The existing statutes are in several books and are wordy, repetitious, tedious to read and unclear in meaning. Veysey believes that he is well-qualified for the task because he has been associated with the cathedral for more than 40 years, first as a canon, then as archdeacon of Barnstaple, precentor, dean and finally bishop. He has read the old statutes and considers himself an expert in them.

- There are 24 canons in the cathedral each with prebends worth six marks annually. Those who reside qualify for daily distributions but must attend services in the choir unless they are away on chapter business or unwell. They are also allowed to eat individually rather than communally except on feast days and other major events. Canons who are deemed resident receive a share of 18s 0d on double feasts paid from the appropriated livings of Broadhembury, Widecombe-in-the-Moor and Thorverton and from the pension charged on Dunsford church. The double feasts are Christmas with four days following, Circumcision, Epiphany, Conversion of St Paul, Purification, Cathedral of St Peter, St Matthew the Apostle, St Gregory, Annunciation, Easter with three days following, St Ambrose, St Mark, Apostles Philip and James, Invention of the Cross, St John before the Latin Gate, Ascension, Relics, Pentecost with the three days following, Holy Trinity, Corpus Christi, St Barnabas the Apostle, Nativity of St John the Baptist, Apostles Peter and Paul, Commemoration of St Paul, Mary Magdalene, St James the Apostle, St Augustine, St Gabriel, Nativity of Mary, Exaltation of the Cross, St Matthew the Apostle, St Michael, St Jerome, St Luke the Evangelist, Apostles Simon and Jude, All Saints, All Souls, Dedication of Church, St Catherine, St Andrew the Apostle, St Nicholas.
- Canons must fill vacant vicars choral places within a month of the vacancies arising. The new vicars must be skilled in singing and have melodious, sonorous voices. They are to be admitted by the dean or president and chapter. If the canons fail to fill the vacancies the dean must do so within eight days and if he also fails then the bishop should do so.

⁴⁰¹⁹ Bracketed passages are taken from Bodl Lib, Rawlinson Statutes 38, pp. 33-53, a contemporary copy of the statutes. The text in Veysey's common register omits the date that the statutes were produced and the new oaths that cathedral clergy were required to take on admission to office. Oliver (Lives, pp. 471-76), transcribes the common register text.

⁴⁰²⁰ This is Oliver's heading.

⁴⁰²¹ Six parchment folios long (ECA, D&C.3628, p. 175).

- Vicars choral must celebrate every canonical hour in the cathedral unless they have permission to be absent. Negligent vicars are to be punished by the dean or president and chapter in the chapter house.
- There are 12 cathedral secondaries who are admitted to office by the dean. They should be of good fame, have good voices and be literate. They are to attend all divine offices both day and night unless licensed to be absent.
- There are 14 choristers who are admitted to office by the precentor. Again they must have sonorous voices and are instructed by the clerk of the chapel. They also must attend the divine services of the cathedral.
- The secondaries and choristers are maintained by the canons resident.
- The chantrists call annuellars must also attend the divine offices of the cathedral. They are able to celebrate their own masses after the first morning mass called Bratton's Mass has ended.
- There are four dignities⁴⁰²² in the cathedral. The first is the dean who has pre-eminence like other deans in Canterbury Province. But he only has one voice in presenting to capitular livings, in the granting of farms and in other common business of the chapter. He has cure of souls and archidiaconal jurisdiction over all who live in the cathedral close and jurisdiction in Exeter and the suburbs when the archdeacon of Exeter is not a canon. He also has jurisdiction in his manor at Branton and in the parish there. Deans have to supply wax to burn before the high altar of the cathedral. They also hold the principal mass on all double major feasts throughout the year in the bishop's absence and on the first Sunday of Advent, Palm Sunday, the four feasts at Ash Wednesday, the three feasts before Easter, the vigil of Pentecost and the anniversaries of kings, bishops and deans. The manor and church of Branton and the churches of Bishop's Tawton and Colaton Raleigh are united with his office.
- The precentor rules over the choir and responsible for the choir's welfare in regard to morals, instruction and food and clothing. He pay the succentor £2 13s 4d and gives the clerk of chapel a cloak and annually together with food and drink each month. The churches of Paignton and Chudleigh and the mansion and lands at Ugbrooke are united to his office.
- The chancellor reads holy scripture either personally or by deputy on the days and in the places agreed by custom. He also writes the chapter's letters and replaces the books of the choir using the chapter's funds. The churches of Stoke Gabriel and Newlyn are united to his office.
- The treasurer looks after the books in the choir and common library and the jewels, cloaks and other ornaments of the cathedral. He also is responsible for bell-ringing, cleaning and lighting in the cathedral and for providing wine for divine service partly at his own expense and partly at that of the chapter according to a decree of Bishop Lacy. He also provides four wardens for the cathedral, two of whom are bound to serve at night. The church of Probus with Tresoresbeare and Morsell and the church of Bishop's Nympton are united to his office.

- The office of subdean is the dean's deputy and completes the dignities.
- The stewards receive money from farms and other sources in the common chest of the cathedral exchequer. In future no money is to be put in the chest unless it belongs to the chapter in common. This will reduce the number of times the chest is opened. Before next Christmas a new chest is to be placed in the exchequer for obit payments and purses with money that has been replaced.⁴⁰²³ There are two stewards, one a canon and the other a minister, who swear in chapter to make accurate accounts of each term's receipts and offerings. In future stewards will pay ministers their stipends at the end of each term and canons residentiary their excrescences annually before 1 December. They take an oath when they are admitted to office on the sixth feast before Michaelmas.
- The door-keeper closes and opens the gates of the cathedral close. The gates close at 9pm between Easter and Michaelmas and at 8pm between Michaelmas and Easter. They are not to be opened in the morning before Bratton's Mass.
- No canon is to reside in the cathedral close unless he has possessions or rents worth £40 after deductions. The money is to be paid in the chapter house on the day that the canon enters into residence. From this sum the vicars choral receive £4, secondaries £2, choristers £1 6s 8d, annuellars £2 16s 8d, and the clerks of the exchequer 3s 4d each. The remainder is to be used for the common necessities of the cathedral.
- No canon is to be admitted into residence before a canon's house becomes available. Canons who have completed their first year of residence are entitled to the annus post mortem. This is unfair to the cathedral as it means that each canon's house bears two financial burdens simultaneously. In future therefore no canon occupying any of the five dignities of the cathedral or any of the four archdeaconries can reside unless he has his own house annexed to the dignity or archdeaconry.
- The number of days in each term that a canon must attend choir and the common table to qualify for residence is to be reduced from 46 to 36 days.
- Canons who are absent from the cathedral for more than 15 days are to be summoned to attend the chapter when there is important business to transact. Such business must be discussed in chapter on three successive Saturdays which gives those absent time to attend. Only the most urgent business can be dealt with immediately.

[Oaths to be taken by deans and canons on their installation and vicars choral and other ministers on their admission follow.

Veysey and the chapter append their seals, the latter on 1 Dec 1544.]

1778. 31 Jul 1542: Veysey in his palace at Exeter grants the provost and canons of Glasney College a licence to enable them to rebuild their college. The poor state of their buildings which are made of timber and covered in lead and wood came to light in the bishop's visitation of 17 Feb 1541. Veysey is anxious that the canons make repairs quickly otherwise the college will become a ruin but because the cost of refurbishment is at least £40 and because the canons are short of money he licenses them to reduce the number of days that they must reside in college to 23 for their next term. The licensce is given in full.⁴⁰⁶⁴

1779. 24 Jun 1542: the king writes from Hampton Court to Veysey and the Exeter Dean & Chapter on behalf of Sir Thomas Denys 'our trusty and right wellbeloved counsellor'. The letter is in English and requires Veysey to grant Denys Crediton Park with four watermills currently in the tenure of John Roo together with 'a certain marsh containing by estimation 100 acres lying very commodiously for our said counsellor'. Denys 'would gladly obtain the same at your hands either by exchange or in fee farm as you shall together agree'. The king is anxious that the matter be concluded in 'friendly and speedy sort' and that 'such writings and deeds be confirmed under your chapter seal as shall be right to be made for the purpose aforesaid'.

Russell would gladly know Veysey's 'best advice' and what he thinks 'to the redress thereof and even so shall I not fail to be a suitor to the king's highness for the purchase of their better quietness there'. Russell also refers to the king's letters on behalf of Sir Thomas Denys who is his 'special good friend'. Veysey is 'to animate' his 'chapter thereunto so as his majesty shall well understand that they be conformable with your lordship to the accomplishment of his majesty's pleasure in that behalf'. Russell warns against obstinacy because the king 'is very earnest in it and fully determined that' Denys 'shall enjoy the same by other lawful means'.

⁴²⁶⁸ Strangely Bourne already appears as keeper of the bishop's registers in 1547, the year of John Crofte's death (see 1090). Perhaps this was a temporary appointment or a counter to John Germyn who was claiming to be both bishop's and consistory court registrar (see 1751B): certainly there is a good deal of uncertainty about the identities of the registrars at this time. Fyton seems to have died in 1549 which opened the way for Bourne to become consistory court registrar, a position he held until his own death ten years later (TNA, PROB.11/42A/486); see 1717C and 1751B for Germyn and Fyton's grants.

Written in English it laments the wickedness and ungodliness of the people which is being punished by an extreme and sudden plague. Veysey himself or his good ministers are to persuade the people to resort more unto the common prayer than they have done and there not only to pray withall their hearts in the fear of God as good and faithful men should do, but also to have a better regard unto their living and specially to refrain from that insatiable serpent of covetousness wherein most men are so infect that it seemeth each one would devour another without charity or any other godly respect. Somerset and his fellow councillors complain that there has been a lack of leadership by the church: ministers have been 'so dull and so feeble in discharging of their duties that it is no marvel thought [that] their flocks wander not knowing the voice of their shepherd and much less the voice of their principal and sovereign majesty'. While they do not doubt Veysey's own commitment 'there have been such negligence within your jurisdiction [that] we exhort and pray you ...and command by the authority given us of God to see it reformed'. They hope that the bishop's diligence will show the worth of his vocation and 'the effects thereof yield unto God an obedient faithful and fearful flock which we wish to God we may shortly see'.
