Introduction¹

A full introduction will be added at a later date. A few brief remarks about King's appointment and his register now follow.

Richard Fox was provided to Bath & Wells diocese on 8 February 1492.² He remained in charge at Exeter until his consecration which probably occurred on or shortly before 8 May when the sede vacante administration of Exeter diocese began.³

King was another ecclesiastic and civil lawyer who served both Edward IV and Henry VII.⁴ Appointed king's secretary in 1480 he fell out of favour under Richard III being arrested in June 1483.⁵ By December 1485 he was working for the first Tudor as a diplomat. In 1487 he became archdeacon of Berkshire and regained the royal secretaryship. King was provided to Exeter on 1 October 1492 having received custody of the see's temporalities the previous May and was probably consecrated at the beginning of February 1493.⁶ He was translated to Bath & Wells in November 1495.⁷

An extended record of the sede vacante period which formally ended on 1 March 1493 has survived in Archbishop Morton's register.⁸ Although this was edited some thirty years ago,⁹ I have gone back to the originals to correct a number of mistranscriptions and omissions and to expand upon some of the entries.

The sede vacante record greatly exceeds King's register both in quality and length. The latter is a scrappy, brief affair which has been hastily assembled.¹⁰ Unusually it starts on the verso of the final folio of Fox's register. King never visited his diocese and so the register is in fact his vicar-general's register. The various sections lack headings and there are a number of small parchment inserts. The inquisitions sub-register comes before the institutions sub-register and may have been bound out of order.¹¹ It contains very few entries whilst the ordinations sub-register that follows the institutions sub-register ends abruptly in March 1494 some eighteen months before King moved to Bath & Wells.¹² Very probably a folio or more are missing at

³ See 1 and Fox 192; Fox received the temporalities of his new see on 4 May (CPR 1485-94, p. 379).

⁴ See ODNB, sub King, Oliver for the following.

⁵ Perhaps he was involved in the duke of Buckingham's rebellion.

this point.¹³ In common with the other later fifteenth century Exeter episcopal registers, there is no record of licences granted, mandates issued or correspondence received.

¹³ Again this would have occurred before 1641. King's register was originally the final register in the composite register book which is now DHC, Chanter 12 part 2 (see Bothe, p. 12). The current final folio, folio 173, shows signs of distress having probably once sat at the bottom of a pile of parchment gatherings (see fn 780).

Proceedings and acts of M Robert Shirborne treasurer of Hereford cathedral¹⁴ and official, commissary and keeper of the spiritualities of the diocese of Exeter by authority of John Morton archbishop of Canterbury during the vacancy of the see following the translation of Richard Fox to Bath & Wells from 8 May 1492 to 1 Mar 1493

fo 118r-v

1. 8 May 1492: Morton, at Lambeth, commissions Shirborne and M James Adam BCL¹⁵ to serve as keepers of the spiritualities of Exeter diocese during its vacancy. They are to

- inquire into the vacancies of benefices and admit and induct
- sequester the revenues of benefices
- receive oaths of obedience
- visit the cathedral, religious houses, hospitals, clergy and laity of the diocese
- inquire into excesses and crimes committed during the vacancy and correct misdeeds
- examine, approve and expedite exchanges of benefices
- inhibit any action prejudicial to the archbishop's visitation
- register and grant probates where the probate falls to the bishop and lesser jurisdictions of the diocese and commit the administration of the goods of the deceased and of intestates to executors and those whom the law deems suitable
- suspend the jurisdiction of inferior authorities for the duration of the visitation
- receive custody of clerics accused of felony before the secular judges
- remove those who are unsuitable from benefices and offices
- punish the illicit farming of benefices
- issue letters dimissory and letters of recommendation and commission any catholic bishop to ordain and examine ordinands
- inquire into the appropriation of benefices or pensions and certify to the archbishop the names of the benefices and appropriators and the reasons for the appropriations
- compel rectors and vicars to reside
- defend all spiritual and ecclesiastical jurisdiction belonging to the bishop

¹⁴ BRUO, iii. 1685-87.

¹⁵ See Courtenay 28.

- receive all spiritual revenues belonging to the archbishop by virtue of the vacancy, issue letters of acquittance for receipts and punish those who usurp the revenues

fo 118v

2. 21 May 1492: Shirborne orders the archdeacon of Exeter to cite the beneficed and unbeneficed of the archdeaconry to appear before the visitors on the days shown below. Three or four trustworthy laymen from each parish are also to be cited to appear. At the visitation sessions procurations are to be paid according to custom¹⁶, clergy are to show letters of institution, dispensations from defects of birth, letters of ordination and dispensations for pluralism. They are also to give details of appropriations and pensions payable from their churches. The archdeacon's jurisdiction is inhibited from the date of receipt of Shirborne's mandate. The archdeacon is to certify that he has executed the mandate by Monday 4 Jun¹⁷ in Exeter Cathedral:

- Friday 1 Jun¹⁸: visit Exeter Cathedral in chapter house
- Saturday 2 Jun: visit Christianity deanery in St Mary Major Church
- Sunday 3 Jun: continue visitation because it is the first Sunday
- Monday 4 Jun: visit St Nicholas' Priory Exeter where lunch is to be taken
- Tuesday 5 Jun: visit St John the Baptist's Hospital Exeter¹⁹ where lunch is to be taken and Polsloe Priory
- Wednesday 6 Jun: visit Kenn and Dunsford deaneries in St Thomas-by-Cowick Church and take lunch in Exeter
- Thursday 7 Jun: visit Aylesbeare deanery in Ottery St Mary Collegiate Church where lunch and dinner are to be taken and spend the night there
- Friday 8 Jun: visit Ottery St Mary Collegiate Church where lunch is to be taken and spend the night at Honiton
- Saturday 9 Jun: visit Honiton and Dunkeswell deaneries in Honiton Chapel where lunch is to be taken and spend the night at Exeter
- Thursday 14 Jun²⁰: visit Plymtree deanery in Cullompton Church where lunch and dinner are to be taken and spend the night there
- Friday 15 Jun: visit Canonsleigh Abbey where lunch is to be taken and spend the night at Tiverton
- Saturday 16 Jun: visit Tiverton deanery in Tiverton Church where the night is to be spent

¹⁶ Payments made to episcopal (or archiepiscopal visitors) by parish clergy for food and drink.

¹⁷ 'Monday before the feast of Pentecost'; perhaps a mistake for the feast of Ascension in which case the date would be 28 May.

¹⁸ 'Friday next after the feast of Ascension' (which fell on 31 May in 1492).

¹⁹ 'St John's Priory'.

²⁰ 'Thursday next after the feast of St Barnabas the Apostle' (11 Jun).

- Monday 18 Jun²¹: visit Cadbury deanery in Crediton Collegiate Church where lunch is to be taken with precentor before visiting the college; dinner is to be taken and the night spent there

fo 119r

3. 31 May 1492: John Tyack²² official of the archdeacon of Exeter certifies that he received Shirborne's mandate on 24 May. He appends a schedule of the names of those cited to appear before the visitor.

²⁹⁶ 4 Jun.

6. 3 Jun 1492: Herford certifies that he received Shirborne's mandate on 22 May and that the following have been cited: F Henry White, F William Wye, F Thomas Lymmesfeld, F Richard Hastyng, F Robert Fane.

7. St Nicholas' Priory Exeter

Herford says his brethren have failed to have a decent tonsure befitting honest monks. Some have smaller crowns and longer hair than secular priests. They are negligent in various matters and pay scant regard to his frequent monitions. White the subprior, Wye, Lymmesfeld and Fane appear and submit to the visitation conducted by Shirborne on 4 Jun.

White admits that one of the brethren was professed at Battle Abbey²⁹⁷ and afterwards was sent to Brecon in Wales where his insolent manner of life so disturbed the monks that they had him transferred to St Nicholas where he now also disturbs the peace, breaking down doors, threatening brethren and annoying servants, to the anger of the prior and constant disquiet of the brethren. White complains also of the smallness of the man's crown and the length of his hair. Wye says that some of the brethren do not treat the prior with due reverence calling him disparagingly in English 'sir prior'.

8. 21 May 1492: Shirborne writes to [F John Oliver]²⁹⁸ prior of St John the Baptist's Hospital Exeter telling him that he intends to visit on the Tuesday after the feast of the Ascension.²⁹⁹ The visitation will be held in the hospital's chapter house and all the brethren are expected to attend. The prior's authority is inhibited from the date of receipt of Shirborne's letter and the prior is to certify that he has carried out Shirborne's orders and provide a list of those cited to appear at the visitation.

9. St John the Baptist's Hospital Exeter

Oliver says the number of brethren is complete, except for one who took flight after he stole various goods. The number of poor persons and boys is also complete. He says the financial state of the house is good and it is not burdened by debt. M William Elyott archdeacon of Barnstaple³⁰⁰ has withheld 16d annual rent from his tenement for the past eight years. The bishop of Winchester,³⁰¹ formerly bishop of Exeter, holds £46 13s 4d of the goods of the house contrary to the will of the brethren and without any recompense.

He is also to show the letters of appropriation of Coleridge Church and all other appropriations granted to the college. When asked how often the college statutes are read publicly, he replies that they are not read publicly but sometimes privately among the canons when they pleased. He says that the college should have 16 vicars but at present it has only six. Asked if he knows that vicars wander about the town in suspicious manner at night and at other unseemly times, Bower says he is not aware. The commissary gives Bower a fortnight to show why he should not be declared a perjurer for failing to obey the college statutes.

Thomas Cook treasurer³²⁴ appears and does not have his letters of institution according to the statutes. 57. 16 Jun 1492: the official of the archdeacon of Cornwall certifies at Exeter that he received Shirborne's mandate of 21 May on 30 May and has executed its contents which he recites in full. The mandate orders him to cite the beneficed and unbeneficed clergy of the archdeaconry to appear before the visitors on the days and at the times shown in the accompanying schedule. Three or four trustworthy laymen from each parish are also to be cited to appear. At the visitation sessions procurations are to be paid according to custom, the clergy are to show their letters of institution, dispensations from defects of birth, letters of ordination and dispensations for pluralism. They are also to give details of appropriations and pensions payable from their churches. The archdeacon's jurisdiction is inhibited from the date of receipt of Shirborne's mandate. Register of Oliver King bishop of Exeter 1493-1495

Register of M Thomas Gilbert DCnL vicar-general⁵¹⁶ of Oliver King whose commission follows

99. 4 Feb 1493: King at Exeter Place London commissions Gilbert to serve as his vicar-general. He is to inquire into rights of patronage and vacant benefices, admit to benefices, sequestrate the fruits of benefices, receive the oaths of official principals and presidents of the consistory court and commissary-generals in the peculiar jurisdictions, conduct visitations of the cathedral, monasteries, clergy and laity correcting offences judicially, oversee the election of abbots and priors, approve exchanges of livings, award pensions, prove wills, grant letters of administration, deal with criminous clerks by imprisonment, purgation and removal, hand over heretics to the secular authorities, issue letters dimissory, commissions and licences, arrange for the ordination and examination of secular and regular clerics, oversee the appropriation of livings to monasteries, compel residence on clergy and receive the revenues belonging to the bishop.⁵¹⁷

fo 162r

100. 14 Feb 1493: Gilbert commissions M John Oby provost of Glasney College⁵¹⁸ and M John Nicoll sacrist of Glasney⁵¹⁹ to serve as commissary- and sequestrator-generals in Cornwall and officials of the bishop's peculiar jurisdiction in the county. They are to inquire, correct and punish crimes and excesses including adultery and incest. They are also to hear promoted office and instance cases and to prove wills and grant administration of the goods of deceased beneficed clergy in the county and of laymen and women in the peculiar jurisdiction. Gilbert retains the right to revoke the commission.

101. 5 Mar 1493: Gilbert commissions Walter Bonavys chaplain⁵²⁰ to take custody of those clerics convicted of murder and felony by the secular justices in Devon and Cornwall and to commit them to the bishop's prison.

⁵¹⁶ From Somerset and a pluralist holding preferments in several dioceses including Exeter; previously commissary of the bishop of Lincoln and subsequently vicar-general of King when the latter was translated to Bath & Wells in 1495 (see Bothe 392).

⁵¹⁷ Presumably the commission was to last during the bishop's pleasure.
